

November 1–5, 2004

www.jin.wa.gov
Brian LeDuc, Program Director

Summary Offender Profile (SOP)

Templar provided the proposal for possible alternate uses of the $50,000 currently targeted to fund the addition of data from the Jail Booking and Reporting System. Of the five services requested (based on feedback from the pilot, LESA and conversations with Online and the Technical Advisory Group) only creating a web services interface to the application was estimated as feasible within the current funding constraints. I will discuss this further with Templar representatives next week.

I also discussed the application with Bonnie Woodrow and Judge Scott Ahlf, of Olympia Municipal Court, who expressed interest in access to the system. As soon as I receive the required information I will set up their accounts. Anyone else who would like to try out the application (and is Level I certified for ACCESS), please send me a note (BrianL@dis.wa.gov) and I will set up an account.

Electronic Citations

I met with the team from Codesic that is doing preliminary planning work for AOC on the project. It is clear that, assuming the Board approves the use of available grant funds, this work will be extremely helpful in my proposal to automate the post-data collection piece of the process using the architecture we are currently building for JIN. I will present our infrastructure plans to the Electronic Collision Standards Reporting Subcommittee on November 19. Members of the traffic records community have expressed interest in using the proposed JIN architecture for sharing traffic records.

I also discussed the project with Bonnie Woodrow and Judge Ahlf when I visited their court to observe citation contest hearings on Tuesday. AOC, led by Dirk Marler, is working on proposed legislative changes to remove the requirement that defendants sign citations. Changing the law in this manner will improve officer safety and dramatically reduce the cost of automating the data collection process.

I have sent an AOC white paper on the subject to Judges Stilz and Wynne from our Board and I have asked Dirk to present the issue at the November 16 meeting.

Byrne Grant RFP

We received OFM approval of the proposed contract with Online Business Systems on Wednesday. The final document is on Mike McVicker's desk awaiting signature.

I received the draft project charter from Online on Wednesday and discussed it with Murray Laatsch, the project manager. I also met with Dave Utery of URL Integration, Online's partner, to discuss goals and objectives. Both Dave and Murray will be in Olympia next week for individual meetings with members of the Steering Committee.

Miscellaneous

I met with Janet McLane and Victor Moore, Staff Coordinator for the Appropriations Committee, on Tuesday to discuss the JIN budget request.